WILSON WHITFIELD & SONS
NEW YORK SQUARE TODAY

An aerial photograph of London, England, taken during the 'golden hour' of sunset. The River Thames flows through the center of the frame. On the left bank, the iconic Shard skyscraper stands tall, its glass facade reflecting the warm light. To its right, a dense cluster of buildings follows the riverbank. Several bridges, including the London Bridge and the Southwark Bridge, span the river. The sky is filled with soft, orange and pink clouds, and the overall atmosphere is serene and picturesque.

London Festival of Architecture

the building site

Visit the hidden forest in the heart of London

The Building Site is an urban intervention that will be installed in the heart of London. It is a large, modular structure made of wood and metal, designed to be a temporary home for a community of people. The structure is made of large, flat panels in various colors (brown, red, yellow, blue, black, white) and features a large poster titled "the building site" by the London Festival of Architecture. The poster includes text about a hidden forest in the heart of London and a list of names.
